Dear Mrs Bush:

I have chosen to write this letter to you because you are a most decent person.

I request that you use your influence with the President to obtain either the release of Mr Raoul Wallenberg (if he is alive) or the true story of how he perished (if he is dead).

Mr Wallenberg represents the essence of the goodness of humanity. He deserves better treatment from the United States. If we sit by and do nothing, we are no better than the Nazis he so courageously defied.

I can conceive of no national security reason that would justify the failure of the U.S. government not to pursue this matter to the fullest extent possible.

I would appreciate a reply to this letter so that I can rest assured that you have received it. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Joel Adler
